West Yorkshire and Harrogate Health and Care Partnership

Children and young people's mental health

Our ambition

We want young people to receive care closer to home when they have serious mental health problems, such as severe personality and eating disorders, so they don't need to travel outside the area for specialist care.

What we are doing

We are planning to build a £13million child and young people mental health unit in Leeds. This will provide 18 specialist places and four psychiatric intensive care beds. This means that fewer children, young people and their families will have to travel to receive specialist care.

What next?

The unit will be ready to use from autumn 2019/2020.

Organisations that buy children and young people's mental health services (clinical commissioning groups) and those that provide support will continue to work together to improve the care children and young people receive. This will include further community investment so children and young people are seen at the right time in the right place and as close to home as possible.
